The Importance of VGM & Correct Weights at Time of Booking

Shippers in Australia & New Zealand must provide accurate weight information at time of booking. Without this information OOCL cannot optimize vessel planning on each voyage and may lead to unnecessary delay in export booking acceptance. We will also take the chance to remind our shippers of the importance of accurate and timely VGM information which must be sent to the cargo receiving terminals through the already established communication channels in each loading region.

VGM = Verified Gross Mass and is weight of the cargo including dunnage and bracing plus the tare weight of the container carrying this cargo

Condition of import containers upon Empty Dehire

In recent months we have seen an increase in the return of empty containers having rubbish, dunnage and even cargo been found inside upon inspection. Customers are kindly reminded to exercise due diligence and ensure containers are returned clean and undamaged. As a reference, please refer to the Bill of Lading Terms and Conditions Clause 19.4, which can be found on www.oocl.com. The clause stipulates that all containers to be the joint and several responsibility of all the persons coming within the definition of the Merchant and must be redelivered clean and undamaged, failing which each of such persons are jointly and severally liable for such detention, loss or expense incurred as a result thereof including but not limited to demurrage, container detention charges, the costs of replacement, transportation and repair.

Vessel Tour Experience

The staff and customers of OOCL had a unique experience in heralding in the Chinese New Year aboard OOCL Chicago in Sydney on Friday 16th February.

It was a glorious day and 14 excited guests boarded the vessel at DP World Terminal at Sydney and were greeted by a very friendly crew, First Officer and Captain. The vessel was decorated in red to celebrate Chinese New Year and we enjoyed a delicious Chinese lunch!

The tour of the vessel, upper deck, bridge and engine room left our customers awed and excited but the highlight of the day was definitely being presented with a fluoro orange onesie with the OOCL Logo emblazoned on the back. The crew were highly amused that we were having so much fun trying on our overalls! The afternoon provided customers with the opportunity to visit an OOCL vessel, see OOCL containers being carefully unloaded & loaded, and meet with our seafaring colleagues onboard who embody the OOCL mantra 'We Take it Personally'.

We take it personally
