ERD vs. DFR

ERD

Terminal/Rail Earliest Receiving Date

The ERD is the earliest date the marine terminal/rail depot will accept export containers at the gate for the intended vessel. It is key to check with the receiving terminal on the ERD for the individual vessel as the date could have changed after your booking has been made.

Clarification

ERD vs. DFRD

TIP: ERD and DFRD might have different dates. To avoid incurring DD charges, please utilize the latest date.

DFRD

OOCL's Demurrage Free Receive Date

The DFRD date is the first date that you may tender an export container without incurring OOCL demurrage. Delivering containers too early will result in OOCL outbound demurrage being charged per our tariff rules, regardless of the marine terminal's earliest receiving date. Outbound demurrage applies equally to merchant and carrier haulage. This information is provided with the Booking Acknowledgement.

Example

In the example below, the terminal's ERD is August 19 and OOCL's DFRD is August 21. To avoid demurrage charges, utilize the latest date, which is OOCL's DFRD of August 21.

Category	Date
Terminal's ERD	Monday, August 19, 2019
OOCL's DFRD	Wednesday, August 21, 2019
